Tax Cut Effective Friday

May Mean Average Person Will Have More Cash to Spend, Policy Shift Seen

NEW YORK A Taxes will drop Friday. For many of you that will mean more money to spend.

For some business firms it will mean the same thing. But for all of them it could mean a considerable shift in policies that you'll be feeling one of these days whether you're in business or not.

The tax cut should mean a new look at their customers, since some will have considerable more to spend after taxes than others, and may therefore get more consid-eration when manufacturers lay their production schedules. The tax cut could, that is, be a help in selling the big ticket items.

The total addition to spending money, if incomes stay at present levels, will be about three billion dollars in 1954. The tax cut may also mean a new policy for many a business on such things as how much to spend on advertising, research, entertainment. It could affect how much business contributes to charity and other causes in your town, or whether some firms cut or enlarge their spending on modernic. large their spending on modernization and expansion of their By Russians plants.

The reasons the tax cuts will make this difference are these: The individual income tax rate The individual income tax rate is going down an average of 10 per cent. The bigger the income the greater the saving—not in percentage but in dollars—and therefore the more money the individual will have left after taxes to spend the stores if he wishes

Eggert, program planning manager, noted that consumers hold 60 per cent more liquid assets than before the war, and that consumers' spendable income is expected to continue in the next three months "at its present record high level." "The movement of population is toward the suburbs, thus creating an increased need for cars," he added. "One eighth of car-owning families now have two cars."

The economists' attention swung to social security at a joint session last night of the American Economic Assn. and the Industrial Relations Research Assn.

Rep. Kean (R-NJ), sponsor of administration-supported legislation to broaden social security coverage by millions of workers and improve benefit payments, said the proposal to freeze social security contributions has "political appeal"

"I'm opposed to a freeze at this time. Benefits are now greater than can be supported at the present contribution rate. Also, it would raise the problem of whether to enter a pay-as-you-go plan instead of building a trust fund reserve for payment of future benefits. If we freeze today, we would almost inevitably have to adopt the pay-as-you-go system in the future." Kean criticized the U. S. Merry-Go-Round Millionaire McCarthy Backer Gets Television License

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON-The fabulous wealth of Senator McCarthy's chief backer, Texas oilman H. R. Hunt, has just been made a matter of official public record. Oilman Hunt has just been awarded a television license at Corpus Christi, Tex., and in order to get it, had to list his approximate net worth.

Hunt filed a sworn statement that his net income after taxes was "in excess of one million dollars a year."

A few people in the U.S.A. have an income before taxes of $1,000,000 a year. But by the time they pay taxes in the 80 or 90 per cent brackets there isn't much left. Hunt, however, testified that his net income was "in excess of one million dollars after taxes for each year of 1951 and 1952."

Of course his taxes are a bit lower than some people's because he gets the benefit of the 271/2 per cent depletion tax allowance on oil wells.

But if Hunt were in a non-preferred industry he would have to make a gross income above $9,000,000 in order to have a net income in excess of a million dollars. The 2712 per cent oil depletion allowance which helps him is given oil operators because it's an extractive industry. In other words, oil does not stay in the ground forever. Coal, also an extractive industry, gets only a 10 per cent depletion allowance, while granite, gravel, marble get 5 per cent.

Hunt uses his fabulous wealth party to back Senator McCarthy, also finance the "Facts Forum" TV program; and finally he's the biggest contributor to "America for Americans," a group of pre-war isolationists who put money into every campaign last year where there was a chance to defeat liberal senators.

Featured on Hunt's Facts Forum TV program is Allan Zoll, whose American Patriots was put on the Attorney General's subversive list. Among the books recommended to viewers are those of Merwin K. Hart, whom Justice Jackson described as "well known for his pro-Fascist leanings." On the Facts Forum advisory committee is Gen. Robert E. Wood, the Sears. Roebuck executive and former head of America first. Wood is nowhongrary national chairman of "America for Americans."

Note-Sitting on the Federal Communications Comraission when Hunt was given his TV license for Corpus Christi was Robert E. Lee, the Mc-Carthy disciple appointed to this key spot by President Eisenhower despite the fact that he was featured in the Senate report on the unfair Trouble in Europe Confidential diplomatic cables about two of our best friends in Europe are even more arming than the news reports—and they are larming enough.

Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce has been abling the State Department from Italy that hat country may go Communist unless the conroversial Trieste question is settled. Some obervers consider her reports a little on the side. But unquestionably the drift in ttaly is toward two savegly different political amps, the Pascist right and the Communist eft. The center parties no longer control.

In France likewise Ambassador Douglas Dillon has reported to the State Department that the presidential stalemate tore France apart even more than appeared on the surface. Right-wing Gaullists and other anti-Communists were so sore at the Communists that they even discussed subduing them by force.

What made the anti-Communists particularly sore was the report that Soviet Ambassador Vinograd was directing French Communist strategy in the presidential voting. He knew that a deadlock would split France wide open.

Note-Meanwhile John Foster Dulles' veiled threat to France to join the United European Army has boomeranged like the Viscount Ishii statement in Japan that an act of Congress baring Japanese immigrants would be considered unfriendly. The U.S. Congress immediately passed the Japanese immigration ban as a slap at Tokyo, and it looks like France was reacting to Dulles in the same way. No country likes to be bossed.

Morse Sets Precedent

The Senate committee on the District of Columbia seldom makes headlines. People don't vote in the District of Columbia, so no politics are at stake and there is no incentive to stage cratorical gymnastics.

The other day, however, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon made an unpublicized statement before the D.C. Committee which may set an important precedent.

The committee had ordered Commissioner Charles Mahaffie of the Interstate Commerce Commission, plus two ex-commissioners, to appear before it to explain why they had made a certain ruling regarding the Capital Transit Company which supplies bus and streetcar service

So many government officials have been indiscriminately hauled before Congress since Mc-Carthy set certain precedents that no one worried over the propriety of quizzing quasi-judicial officials. However, as the hearing was about to start, Senator Morse interruped.

"This committee has no power," he said, "to summon any judicial officer who is not under impeachment proceedings."

"I will be no party to breaking down the traditional separation of the judiciary from other branches of government," Morse continued.

"The Interstate Commerce Commission is a have no right to question its members on how they arrived at a decision regarding the Capital Transit Company or any other company. We can ask their views about needed legislation, but we can't question their decisions. They are symbols of the judicial process.

"Furthermore, they have no right voluntarily to answer these questions," the Oregon senator continued. "We cannot establish a precedent here for breaking down separation of the three branches of government." Senator Beall of Maryland, who presided, immediately concurred. Apologies were made to the three ICC commissioners and they were excused. Note-The above precedent will be important. Senator Welker of Idaho tried to violate it in Denver recently by quizzing U.S. District Judge

Tests Show Hand And Eye Preferences Are Related

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

On the average about one person in ten is left-handed. Left-handedness is twice as common in boys as it is in girls. Why some people are born left-handed rather than right-handed still is not clear.

Hand preference may be related to eye preference. Most people who have equal vision in the two eyes prefer to use one eye or the other for sighting a gun, looking through a telescope, or looking through a hole in a fence. The preferred eye is called the dominant eye. One investigator found that about 70 per cent of a group studied were right-eyed, 29 per cent were left-eyed and only one in 100 did not have any preference.

Most of those preferring the right eye were also right-handed, but nine of the ten of those who preferred the left eye were also right-handed. Just what all this means, however, is not quite

Many tests have been devised for testing hand preference. One investigator working with young infants found that whichever hand was used in wiping a desk with a dust cloth, rolling it into a ball and throwing it away was reliable in testing which hand was preferred.

Older children and grownups can be asked which hand they prefer to use for throwing, cutting bread or dealing cards.

It is believed that heredity is at least party responsible for hand and eye preference. However, heredity probably is not the only factor involved, but it seems to be the most important. Occasional Problems

Occasionally children who are left-handed, but who have been forced to use their right hands have developed stuttering or some other type of speech defect. Some authorities believe that a young stutterer is one who has shifted from normal left-handedness to using the right hand and that he or she should be encouraged to use the left rather than the right hand.

This does not mean that most left-handed children will develop stuttering if they are forced to use the right hand, but it is considered wiser to let left-handed children write with and use the preferred hand. Many of them become almost ambidextrous, using one hand for some things and the opposite for others.

Field at USIA

Voice of America and U.S. Information Agency really went to town on the foreign policy statements of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, defending America's free and independent allies and rejecting the "get-tougher" policies of Senator McCarthy.

Texts of the statements by the two American leaders were broadcast and distributed to foreign publications everywhere. Nothing as good as this to explain the American position to foreign eritics of U.S. policies had come to hand in a long time.

Some of the USIA personnel who had been McCarthied took particular delight in handling it. They leaned over backward to avoid making any criticisms of the senator personally, or of his policies. The emphasis was just put on the positive nature of the President's and the secretary's statements.

USIA had another field day in handling President Eisenhower's UN speech outlining his new peacetime atomic energy development plan. This was great stuff to emphasize U.S. peaceful intentions in many countries where Communist propaganda has been trying to put over the idea that "warmongering American imperialists" were intent on atom-bombing the earth.

Egyptian Cook Surprised

WASHINGTON - The wife of Samir Souki, assistant press counselor of the Egyptian embassy, brought the family cook from Cairo with her for Mr. Souki's Washington tour of duty, which is now coming to an end.

The Egyptian cook loved it, and the Soukis noticed that the native dishes which she prepared seemed to taste better here than they did

When the Soukis mentioned this to her, she explained. Here she had a dishwasher and garbage grinder to do her dirty work. She did not have to spend so much time tending the fire, and she could give more attention to her cooking. The oriental vegetables which she was able to get from the Syrian grocers here seemed to be fresher and cleaner.

The cook's delight in the American groceries reached their height when Mr. Souki came home one night carrying a carton of Coca-Cola. The Egyptian woman's face registered complete amazement and her eyes gleamed.

"Do you mean," she asked in apparent disbelief - "Do you mean they have Coca-Cola

No Prize For This

A congressional committee report from Sen. Harry F. Byrd's office got pretty well fouled up the other day through misunderstanding. News dispatches gave the impression that the U.S. government now had $149 billions in unexpected cash. Many people who read this wrote in to ask why some of this couldn't be applied to cutting in half the $273 billion national debt.

Actually, the report said that as of Sept. 1 the government had "unexpended balances in appropriations" totaling $149 billion. This means that they are authorizations for future spending. They're more like credits than cash on hand.

Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey got curious over how this rhubarb began, and assigned one of his aides to find out. The report came back with the comment that he didn't think any reporters would win a Pulitzer prize for this one.

Lots of office people who aren't fired with enthusiasm are likely to be when the big boss finds it out.

They found more and more birds are spending the winter in St.

Louis instead of flying south. Mild winters here explain the stay-athome birds, say the bird watchers.

"We saw about 800 birds of 35 species," said Earl Hath, who's been watching birds since 1914 and is vice president of the St. Louis Audubon Society, "and that's a pretty good showing for a blustery day like yesterday."

How fast your beef calves gain next summer depends more upon how you feed them this winter gains are influenced by the rate of gain during the winter. Cattle making high winter gains will make less gain during the summer than cattle making moderate to small winter gain.
